GENERALS PLEASED · WITH NAVY VICTORY

Hope Is Instilled for Further Triumphs on Gridiron.

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 6.-The Wash ington and Lee football team returned here greatly elated by its victory over the Navy on Saturday, and tomorrow will begin preparations for the big home game against Bucknell rext Saturday. The showing made against the midshipmen is cons'dered remarkable because many of the players were in a semi-crippled condition. The Generals are confident now of disposing of Bucknell, and a week later hope to defeat Washington and Jefferson at Richmond.

Johnson and Young were the men who distinguished themselves on Saturday, the former carrying the ball thirty yards to within striking distance and then scoring the Washington and Lee touchdown. Captain Young not only kicked the field goal for the Generals, but his punting averaged nearly sixty yards.

The defense of Washington and Lee was so strong that the middles could make little impression on the line, and the only time the goal was in danger was when Davis carried the ball nearly fiftty yards and reached the Generals. Disyard line.

Pierotti was a bulwark at center, while Ignico and Bethel broke up many of the Navy plays. Paxton, who played at fullback during the second half, showed his ability to gain consistently on line plunges.

FULTZ REITERATES CONTRACT DEMANDS

Fraternity Head Determined

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—In a satement made public today, David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, reiterates his demand that clauses in certain contracts be changed so players disabled in performance of their duties shall not lose pay while recuperating. He refuses to name players who have been discriminated against in this manner, informing Ban Johnson, president of the American League, that he can find these contracts by looking over the list of the New York and Washington clubs, of the American League.

It is well known that major league owners are making ready, to cut owners are making ready, to cut salaries all along the line this winter. No contracts are expected to be offered until the annual meetings are concluded in New York next month. If there are signs of concerted action in this direction

Following is a copy of the contract clause signed by Washington and New York players which President David L.

GIRL IN AEROPLANE TO CHEER OVERTON

Most Novel of Stunts to Be Seen at College Race.

If Johnny Overton of Yale University

If Johnny Overton of Yale University intercollegiate cross-country champion, doesn't retaft his title when the college harriers grind out their yearly offering to the god of stamina and grit at New Haven on November 25, it won't be because he is not given the most novel and delightful encouragement ever offered to a competing athlete.

Overton, let it be explained, has two of the finest friends a fellow could ask for—one a girl (and perhaps more than a friend), and the other a man. The man—Overton's friend—owns and operates an aeroplane, and the girl, besides being Johany's most enthusiastic rooter, is as game as they come. She wants Johnny to win back the prestige that he lost to Captain Windnagle of Cornell at the intercollegiate games at Camat the intercollegiate games at Cambridge last spring and she's going to lend Johnny first-hand encouragement every step of the way. How will she do it? Why, the answer it as simple as do it? Why, the answer it as simple as the nose on one's face.

Picture the start of the big college race. Off to one side, resting on the turf, is the biplane owned by Overton's pal and near it stands the girl who wants to see Johnny win. If she waits there for the runner to come around the minutes will seem like hours. The aviator starts up his engine, and quick as a flash the girl jumps up beside him, to soar away after the runners and call a word of cheer to Johnny.

One thing is actually going to happen at New Haven on November 25, and let

One thing is actually going to happen at New Haven on November 25, and let it be explained that the Yale course is about the ouly one on which the stunt can be pulled. For a part of the journey the runners follow along the edge of a precipice 405 feet high and it's at this point that the aviator plans to swoop down close and fly beside Overton, so that the maid who is "pulling" for Johnny can wave her Yale flag and sing out to her hero: "Run, Johnny, for Yale and for me." Truly, this will be the most interesting incident seen in connection with a cross-country run.

It is just possible that the intercollegiate officials may frown on the idea of Overton being aided and obetted at a critical stage of his race by the sight of his best girl cheering him. There are all kinds of rules against runners be-ing coached and paced by spectators, but none to date that prevents a runner from receiving a few words of encourag-ment via the air route.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA. |

Awful Drought Hit College and Student Organization Where Prohibition Prohibits.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 6. Prohibition prohibits at Charlottsyille-Black coffee and banjos are the popular amusements at the University of Virginia since the new prohibition law went into effect. There is absolute dryness in Virginia. The drought was quick, clean, and effective. Bottle-storers are quaking in their boots, lest they be scarched and "jugged." The University has a look of perennial gloom.

It is impossible for a student, even o a ripe and hoary age, to procure anything remotely resembling liquor. It is against the law for one of them to look on the wine. Sahara reigns supreme and there is no ossis in sight. No man at Virginia dares to want a drink-for it means his expulsion from college, liability to jail sentence, and other dire penalties if he is "caught with the goods." If he were to be a fraternity man, and drink in his chapter house, the measures are especially dras-tic; the chapter will be ousted from

CONTRACT DEMANDS

The chapter will be ousted from the chapter will be outsted from the chapter will be outsted. The college and its fraternity house, and kept out, the chapter forfeited. The same is true if any liquor stronger than the justly celebrated aqua pura is discovered thereon.

The election is a side issue. The men are all talking about the new law—the most drastic ever enacted, and are deathly afraid of it.

There have been tales and tales of Kansas, Maine, or Tennessee, that "prohibition does not prohibit." These may be true enough for those States, but Virginia is in a class by itself. Its law—if constitutional—has by itself.
